Involvement in the Mining Sector is a challenging, cyclical industry sector that requires constant development of technical and specific tools to identify risk and especially emerging risks that could impact the sector. By involving myself in the sector trade associations, field support and ongoing interaction with Industry Leaders, my team and I bring value added responses to current and existing client base. Risk Management involves not only the procurement of Insurance Products, but a suite of other programs to assist our customers to reduce/mitigate other risks that Insurance Products cannot or are cost prohibitive to cover through traditional insurance placements. My team's job is to provide the right program, at the right price, and bring risk identification, mitigation and transfer options to our current and existing relationships
